

Headline : Zamani is Deleum's new group COO
Media : New Straits Times / Business Times
Day/Date : 4 September 2012
Page : 4
Links :

Zamani is Deleum's new group COO

KUALA LUMPUR: Deleum Bhd, provider of a diverse range of supporting specialised products and services to the oil and gas industry, appointed Zamani Abd Ghani as its group chief operating officer (COO) effective last Saturday.

Deleum group managing director Nan Yusri said Zamani has a wealth of experience in the oil and gas industry as he is familiar with the group's operations and businesses.

"This will bear him in good stead as group COO as he will be able to provide strong directions and continue to deliver operational excellence for each of our business segments," he said in a press release.

Zamani, 41, joined the firm in 1997 and held several positions within the group, including vice-president of sales, power and machinery division and chief operating officer of power and machinery division. He was also the senior general manager of business development for the group prior to his promotion.